

LEADING THROUGH CHANGE AND UNCERTAINTY

Overview

Leading effective change and navigating uncertainty are critical skills. Many people struggle when there's a lack of clarity at work. And most change efforts fail; not due to poor strategies or processes, but because leaders haven't got their people on board.

This course provides practical tools and insights from best-practice research and leadership experience to help you engage your team, build commitment and lead well through change and uncertain times.

The course covers

The critical elements of the change process and how to make sure it's set up for success

How to ensure your people understand the change, believe in it and can move forward with confidence

Practical tips to lead through these difficult times - planning, communication, building resilience & more

Some common watchouts around change and uncertainty, and how to overcome them

Details

- 3 hours duration
- Can be face-to-face or online
- Up to 15 people per session
- Key takeaways: practical tips and tools for all the areas covered
- Includes a planning meeting of up to one hour to gain an overview of your business and the attendees and make any tweaks to need their needs

Suggested attendees

Senior leaders

Leaders

HR team members

Anyone else who is leading or supporting change at work

Please contact me to discuss running this training course in your workplace

027 210 6985

robin@robindavies.co.nz

